

Anthem

"The Best Is Yet To Come"

Visit "The Best Is Yet To Come" on MotoLyrics.com

And while you're feeling right, I love a liar
You send a shiver down my spine, a cutting wire Your trustful eyes are a memory now cause you're building up fences
In case they'll shine as they used to do, now it's too late to find an answer

Do you, do you remember you loved me?
You can't forget what you loved, girl
I never thought it would be so hard
And I've been too far to know what you've done there
How can you say that you loved me?
And now I know the best is yet to come

It's your choice, you will regret it
You can't imagine how i've felt so far, when you went crazy
Those goddamn lies you can keep 'em with you, I don't give a shit about 'em
You apologize but I couldn't care less, I refuse to be the victim

Do you, do you remember you loved me?
You can't forget what you loved, girl
I never thought it would be so hard
And I've been too far to know what you've done there
How can you say that you loved me?
And now I know the best is yet to come

Do you, do you remember you loved me?
You can't forget what you loved, girl
I never thought it would be so hard
And I've been too far to know what you've done there
How can you say that you loved me?
I never thought you'd be so shameless
Nice play, you walk the street to the real fake
You never wanted to save anything
But now I know the best is yet to come

Visit Anthem page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

