

Anthony Green

"Never Love Again"

Visit "Never Love Again" on MotoLyrics.com

How could I ever have what I felt, How could you ever say you never knew, All along it was there on my mind in my heart, It was the feeling, I was in love, You act as if you never knew my name, How could you pleasure putting me through so much pain, Like a child in the womb I needed you to give me love, I miss that feeling of being loved.

[Chorus]:

How could I ever love again, How could I start to love again, After you broke me down it's hard to trust that feeling to fall in love again.

A man don't usually fall no more than twice, And if he does you never know 'cause he wont say, For the fear of being fooled taken twice by the heart is in his nature, To be afraid, He starts to wonder if it's really right, To let his past take control of his life, Maybe I'll run into hope someone there's right for me, And she'll love freely, And fall in love again.

[Chorus]

Love, You know what they say about a man, It's hard for him to fall in love, once hurt he'll never give in it's hard for him to trust, Found out it was hard to cope when your love broke down on me, It's hard for me to trust again, Love.

[Chorus]+ ad lib

Visit Anthony Green page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.