Bombs tumble from the sky
Millions suffer, millions die
Millions cry, millions bleed
Where were you God in this moment of need

Aeroplanes rumble overhead
Your home, your town left for dead
Loved ones perish, scorch & burn
The end was inevitable but still you didn't learn

The air is blue on which you breath

The food you eat is the food you need
The water's poison which you drink
The facts were there but no you didn't think

A terrifying end, a wasted life
Cry your guilt for your charred wife
Your mind is numb, your eyes they bleed
The end was inevitable but still you didn't see, see, see, see
No you didn't see
