"Not Good Enough"

I try my hardest part, but nothings ever good enough for you Try not to anger when you wound my pride, rubbing it in that you You're so much better, and to you, I'm just a waste of time
Why do I bother when your words are so stuck in my mind?

But you (you), you're so petty and I'm trying not to buy
into your shit
And you (you), can be so convincing when you say, you think I'm worthless

I can't wait until the day where I am not the one That you call all those stupid names and use for your stomping ground
I will not look down upon you from up above Cause you nothing more than the words you say, not good enough

What is it this time that I did so incorrectly?
I think you'd like to believe I don't contain one ounce of morality

Just cause I'm different from you doesn't mean I don't understand Because I am so different you won't even try to see where I'm coming from

But you (you), you're so petty and I'm trying not to buy
into your shit
And you (you), can be so convincing when you say, you
think I'm worthless

That you call all those stupid names and use for your stomping ground
Cause you nothing more than the words you say, not

Cause (you are nothing) more than the words you say
Cause (you are nothing) more than the words you say
Cause (you are nothing) more than the words you say
Not good enough
