

Antic Cafe

"S*B*Y"

Visit "S*B*Y" on MotoLyrics.com

You lead a life of fear, forgot how to laugh I'm sorry I didn't notice

I saw you from the back, your head held low A fire rose in my heart and jolted me I can tell you now that

STAND BY YOU STAND BY YOU you're not alone
Everything in this world has meaning Stretch your hand out and everything will open up for you let's embrace tomorrow together

We're a breed that hurts people at times, and saves people at other times
If it's sunny then rain, then it always rains

Try to find a place for yourself by finding those that are weaker and crowing them

Only I realize one day that the place you sought was a sham(e)
If the things we protect are destroyed Then nothing will protect us so we'll create a place we can be proud of

I saw you from the back, your head held low a fire rose in my and jolted me
I can tell you now that I'll always stand by you...

STAND BY YOU STAND BY YOU you're not alone
Everything in this world has meaning
Stretch your hand out and everything will open up for you let's mbrace tomorrow together

Flowerless weeds, weeded and stepped on Nonetheless they have a right to life I'll push my way through the clouds and send them the brilliance of flowers

STAND BY YOU STAND BY YOU

