While you're sleeping next to me
It's hard to tell you who I need to be
We stand together but we fall apart
I wonder where I end and where you start
I used to be the one you turned to when you needed someone strong or just a friend
What happened to the comet that we made
It froze in silent years and lost its flame

We're half a world away
Locked outside the people that we used to be
Come back to me
We're half a world away
Still pretending that there's nothing wrong
Just talk to me and make my half world whole

If only you could stumble back to me
I might not make you lose your sanity
Still crazy like the fool who won your smile
Wasn't I the best just for a while

We're half a world away

Locked outside the people that we used to be
Come back to me
We're half a world away
Still pretending that there's nothing wrong
Just talk to me and make my half world whole

I turned left , as you turned right
Between the start and now a stranger came to stay
Don't give up when we fight
Why are we always...

Half a world away
Locked outside the people that we used to be
Come back to me
We're half a world away
Still pretending that there's nothing wrong
Just talk to me and make my half world whole

Locked outside the people that we used to be
Come back to me
We're half a world away
Let's pretend for now we're who we used to be
And make my half world whole...
