Endless hours and days wasted away
Endless thoughts and words, unsure
How long will you live this way,
Never knowing what's just around the bend?

Cause you trust that you won't make it
Cause you hate to make mistakes
And your life has been nothing but struggles
In this silly rat race

And the world can be so cold so
So you bathe in all the lies
You submit yourself to society
When it rains you cry
On and on endlessly you try

When you're traveling down that road
Attempting to fit in some sort of mold
Put a brick on the gas and steer, just steer
Straight through all your fears, toward all you hold
dear
Only you hold your destiny
Only you know what's meant to be Cause you try to maintain, you try to uphold
To the standards they set for the soul that you sold

And you trust in all of your memories
Cause you've learned from your mistakes
And your life will hold all the answers
To where you will lay

And the world can be so cold, I know
So keep warm inside that smile
Just commit yourself to your happiness
When it rains you'll cry
On and on endlessly you try
Endlessly you try

Endless hours and days wasted away
Endless thoughts and words, unsure
How long will you live this way
Never knowing what's just around the bend?
