You held my hand when I thought that I was lost,
You were beside me when I needed you the most.
And it's because of you that I have become what I am.
We grew very distant and that is how it all began.

Chorus:

Now that your heart has stopped under my hands
And you've lost expression on your face
I call you, to please come back.
Now that your eyes are nothing but a stare
And your body is just laying there,
I call you, to please come back.
But you left and you will never come back again.

I covered you in hate and I did everything absolutely wrong,
I broke you down completely, even though you were so strong.
You tried to help me, but I was rotten to the core.
You gave me all you had, I laughed and wanted more.

Chorus:

Now that your heart has stopped under my hands
And you've lost expression on your face
I call you, to please come back.
Now that your eyes are nothing but a stare
And your body is just laying there,
I call you, to please come back.
But you left and you will never come back again.

I held your hand while you were getting lost.
I'm sorry I couldn't help you when you needed me the most.

I swear that I pressed down as hard as I could Begged you to come back and I hoped that you would.
But you still left without saying good bye,
It hurt me so bad that I couldn't even cry.

Your heart has stopped
Under my hands
And you'll never come back, never come back.

Your heart has stopped
Under my hands
And I'll never see your face again.
Your heart has stopped
Under my hands
And you'll never come back, never come back.
Your heart has stopped and I'll never see you again.
