Overwhelmed
By something I can't explain
Something more real than real
Something words can't contain

Whispering
Your Spirit was calling me
I felt You drawing me
Melting my heart of stone

Everything inside my soul
Cried out for something more
Your love has captured me
This heart has been reborn
I heard You call my name
When You knocked upon my door
I gave my life away
This heart has been reborn

I believe
You can make all things new
'Cause all that I ever dreamed
Was suddenly real in You

Like a summer rain
Making a desert bloom
You opened my thirsty heart
And now I have been renewed

Everything inside my soul
Cried out for something more
Your love has captured me
This heart has been reborn
I heard You call my name
When You knocked upon my door
I gave my life away
This heart has been reborn

No one else could ever love like that
You took my heart
I'll never take it back

Everything inside my soul
Cried out for something more
Your love has captured me
This heart has been reborn
I heard You call my name
When You knocked upon my door
I gave my life away
This heart has been reborn

No one else could ever love like that
