ON EDGE

What is the reason for all of this? It seems this life is not enough for me
We take for granted, everything (everything)
(So) So simple this life is (so) so quickly we throw our heart (so quickly), and loose what we know (what we know)
(We can't) We can't wash this away (not this time) not this time, and no not this time

Let it go, just let it go Just let it go
You thought you had me exactly where you wanted me, but you're not strong enough for me
We take for granted, everything
Let's get this over with, you mean nothing to me
You sit there smiling
Your time is on the edge and it's all you have Don't take this away
