WHAT HAS ELAPSED

Remember, when nothing could hurt us. No one could touch us then

Remember, when nothing could hurt us. No one could touch us then

There's something in the air that takes me back to those times of clarity (It brings me back to those times)

Remember when we couldn't part our hands

For so long now I've longed for then

All of your feelings have gone to the roof, have gone to the roof

(Let's reach back) This conscious state of me is killing cares

But time is fast and I'm ready to end this

All of your feeling have gone to the roof, have gone to the roof

Deal me the better hand and I'll sit tight, but peace means war and death means life

We stand on our own two legs; we hold our backs up straight

We stand on our own two legs; we hold our backs up straight

Remember, when nothing could hurt us no one could touch us then

Forever, I thought I was perched on the highest point of what I couldn't be

What are we feeling, I know now

All of your feelings have gone to the roof, have gone to the roof

All of your feelings are coming down on me, coming down on me

All of your feelings are coming down on me, coming down on me

Remember, when nothing could hurt us. No one could touch us then

Remember, when nothing could hurt us. No one could touch us then

(All of your feelings have gone to the roof, have gone to the roof)

(Forever, I thought I was perched on the highest point of what I couldn't be)

Wake the confined and you'll find me there
Remember when nothing could hurt us, nothing can help us now
