I had a dream, which was not all a dream
The bright sun was extinguishÃ¢â¬ and the stars
Did wander darkling in the eternal space,
Rayless, and pathless, and the icy earth
Swung blind and blackening in the moonless air; Morn came, and went Ã¢â¬ and came, and brought no day,
And men forget their passions in dread
Of this their desolation;
The world was void
The populous and the powerful was a lump
Seasonless, herbless, treeless, manless, lifeless,
A lump of death Ã¢â¬ a chaos of hard clay
The rivers lakes, and ocean, all stood still,
And nothing stirred within their silent depths;

The waves were dead; the tides were in their grave,
The moon, their mistress, had expired before;
The winds were witherÃ¢â¬ in the stagnant air,
And the clouds perishÃ¢â¬; darkness had no need
Of aid from them Ã¢â¬ she was the universe
