She's all alone
Making her way to a cold, empty home
Nobody waiting and no one to hold
She's holding her own
He wakes up late
Stares at the mirror to find his own face
Picks out the pieces he hides from within
He doesn't fit in, do you?

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night

Opens her eyes
Looks around her
There's faith in disguise
There's no more secrets to shadow with lies
She swallows her pride
Somebody care, hard to be seen when there's nobody there
It's getting closer, no need to pretend
Just let it in and believe

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind

Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night

Maybe today or maybe tomorrow
Guess the hands of fate
Been making you wait too long
I know the way to forget all your sorrow
Be the first in line to admit that you were wrong
Sometimes

I've made up my mind

Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night

Gonna make it through the night now baby
Gonna make it through the night now baby
Gonna make it through the night now baby
Yeah, yeah, yeah

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine
We're gonna make it through the night
