She's all alone
Making her way to a cold, empty home
Nobody waiting and no one to hold
She's holding her own

He wakes up late,
Stares at the mirror to find his own face
Picks out the pieces he hides from within
He doesn't fit in, do you?

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night

Opens her eyes,
Looks around her,
There's faith in disguise
There's no more secrets to shadow with lies
She swallows her pride

Somebody care,
Hard to be seen when there's nobody there
It's getting closer, no need to pretend
Just let it in and believe

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night

Things ain't getting better
She still feels the same
She's hiding from her better days
The chance to take the pain away
And find the answers out there in the end

I've made up my mind

Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night

Maybe today or maybe tomorrow
Guess the hands of fate
Been making you wait too long
I know the way to forget all your sorrow
Just be the first in line to admit that you were wrong sometimes

I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,
We're gonna make it through the night
I've made up my mind
Everything's fine,

Gonna make it through the night now baby,
Gonna make it through the night now baby,
Gonna make it through the night now baby, yeah, yeah,
yeah

Come on, everybody now

We're gonna make it through the night...
