I think I met a girl
Who likes to make me happy everyday
Then I bought a ring
To try and make her never go away
I bet there's half a million people
That feel the way I do
I don't have to drink a river now
Just to get on through
Then I lost a friend
A ruthless heart makes laughter slip away
I never took the time to think
About the senseless game we play

I bet there's half a million people
That feel the way I do
I don't have to drink a river now
Just to get on through
Then I lost the plot
And went and chased my sweetheart far away
Now I've realised
Life is not an easy game to play
I bet there's half a million people
That feel the way I do
I don't have to drink a river now
Just to get on through
