"Till Something Better Comes Along"

She was mine she was all mine but now she's just holding on
Till something better comes along
She's kind just being kind she can't bear to leave me alone
Till something better comes along

She tries when I hold her but each day she grows colder
I know her heart's breaking it shows
For so long I hurt her and I know I don't deserve her

She just needs one last reason to go

But she's strong she's being strong till something better comes along [steel]

She tries when I hold her...
I was wrong and she's holding on till something better comes along
Till something better comes along
