Shes not, breathing, her eyes are closed, its time to go.
Coins on her eyes wrapped in silk and sealed in gold I can still see you, youll never know, like the reflection of my tear
I can still feel you, your body on mine, in my dreams like you never left me Blinded by the way you left me
You will forget everything they told you, everything they said

Without a doubt Im out of hope, Im at the end of my line without a rope This room is spinning without sound, and my whole world is crashing down Let go of me
I can still see you (in my dreams)
I can still feel you (your body on mine)
