What makes us keep meeting each other down the street

What makes us keep holding each other in the shadows

It's no use and we both know it's true

We got nothing to gain and everything to lose

We know that we both got better sence than this

But we don't think about it at the time

But when we're meeting out on sacred randezvous

We got nothing to gain and everything to lose

What makes two people wish all they have

For just one moment of sacred love

Why should we have to use your best friends part

To sit and talk and to be forlorn

We know that we're just too silly crazy fools

With nothing to gain and everything to lose

With nothing to gain and everything to lose
