If only you were here to hold my head above bloody waters
We could make it through You turned your back on me and now I do the same to you
You made me feel so hollow How can the man that you looked up to turn around and say three words that hurt more than you'll ever know You don't know what it feels like to be in my shoes You turned your back on me as I stood there and fell to the floor

This time there's no reason for me to turn around and scream for help
But if only you were here to hold my head above all those things you said to tie me down I'm looking for forgiveness for something that I didn't even do
How can you call yourself an idol, a person to trust?
How can I look so high up when you're always holding me down?
