

Archons

"The Enigma Of Torments"

Visit "The Enigma Of Torments" on MotoLyrics.com

Only the fools can pretend to follow only one precise path
And none can make it through without regrets and torments
I can't live in this world of regrets There's no way to escape this torment
All I can do is be true to myself Don't see the end of this constant pain Suicide should not be an option Something more better be waiting Billions of souls waiting for an ending I can't be alone hoping for more

We are not born of god or evil, but with time we learn to use them both Without knowing what mortals can do with the power in their hands
We can only make of our lives a series of attempts towards accomplishment Lies and violence often become the tools in such a quest
Many of us choose the way of ignorance and destruction

With time our action can turn out to be devastating The obvious of yesterday may be the nightmare of tomorrow
But it feels so much worse when you see the ones that really do what they think to be better drown into unpredictable consequences

Visit Archons page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.