I feel drawn to revolving doors
It makes it easy to get back to where I was before
Im an optimist when I forget to be a realist at times like these
With a little time well find out why
What we already knew
Show me the brighter side
The one where we both make it out alright
I feel like it'll all work out this time
If we lean towards the brighter side
I bought us two round trip tickets to nowhere
So if it's lonely it's easy enough to get back here
Im a pessimist when I forget to be an optimist at times like these
It takes time but well find out why we never worked out before
Show me the brighter side
The one where we both make it out alright
I feel like it'll all work out this time
If we lean towards the brighter side
Somewhere there is somebody waiting to break my heart again
And it's been so long I feel like Im ready to let them
And who knows maybe I'll surprise myself
And who knows maybe you'll be surprised by me
Im a realist when I forget to be anything else
So lets invent a new lie we can build upon for ourselves
And then show me the brighter side
