Watching all your victims lying in the dark
They're only numbers you can't count
No one really didn't fit to you
And so you pushed them round and round
The TV shows you how to act
Put into action everything
Your disappointment rules the world
It doesn't matter what I sing.
Oh you fight
All heroes on your side
To what you hold on tide
Is everything that seems to make your arguments so right
And what you've been inside
I see it in your eyes
A breathless way of life at every time you like.
Walking in the park, walking in the street
No one takes interest in you
You're not exactly being beauty boy
That's why you'll kill a man or two
If anytime there was a girl who tried communicated with your heart
You didn't learn appreciate
Again you tear it all apart.
Oh you fight
All heroes on your side
To what you hold on tide
right
And what you've been inside
I see it in your eyes
A breathless way of life at every time you like.
