And if I were leaving, would I catch you dreaming?
And if I were gonna be gone now, could I take you home?
And if I told you I loved you, would it change what you see?
And if I was staying, would you stay with me?

And if I had money, would it all look good?
And if I had a job now, like a good man should?
And if I came to you tomorrow and said lets run away, would you roll like the wind does? Baby would you stay?

And my heart is dancing to a November tune
And I hope that you hear it singing songs about you I sing songs of sorrow, because you're not around See babe I'm gone tomorrow, baby follow me down

And I don't know why I have to, but this man must move on
I loved my time here, didn't know 'till I was gone
November shadow shade November change
November spells sweet memory
The season blue remains
November spells sweet memory
The season blue remains

Your yellow hair is like the sunlight, however sweet it shines Bit by the cold of December, I'm warm beside your smile

Oh lady tell me I'm not leaving, you're everything I dream
I'm killing myself thinking, I'm falling like the leaves I'm killing myself thinking, I'm falling like the leaves.
