

Arms Like Yours

"I Shook The Ground When I Spoke My Words"

Visit "I Shook The Ground When I Spoke My Words" on MotoLyrics.com

My cities are collapsing to the ground, every building that I've built Will be burned by dawn as I stare in disbelief Oh the pavement's filled with cracks, and my skies have turned to black This throne weighs so heavy The throne that I stood atop is crumbling down beneath my very feet
All that I've worked for is gone
All I can do is panic and try Just try to wash the blood from my hands, I've shed all my skins
And now I'm left with these pure shades of red But maybe I can find a way to change and rebuild every city
I must stop, or I could lose it all cuz' I hold this world in the palm of my hand

I've set these cities ablaze, but I can't let them burn to the ground
I can't let them burn

But maybe I can find a way to change and rebuild every
city
I must stop, or I could lose it all cuz' I hold this world in
the palm of my hand
The people stand, and sing it out with me
They keep singing oh oh
I lit the match, and I watched it burn, my cities ablaze, my cities ablaze
I shook the ground, when I spoke my words, my cities ablaze and I lost the world

Visit Arms Like Yours page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.