"Lie To Me"

Made and burn your open mouth
I'd hate to put the fire out
But you don't know that I'm still the same and I still feel you as you fan the flames
Break this in vain
I need a little
Life in your veins
I don't need to wait around
For you to come back down

It's all in the way that you're out of your mind
If I could taste the rain the pain is hard to find
All in the way that you're out of your mind
I don't need to believe that you're mine

Tread the flood the world's in now
Would you be there when my lungs give out
If I don't feel the same
Would I still feel you as you fan the flames
Break this in vain
I need a little
Life in your veins
And bury me in silhouettes
And words that I should have never let escape
I'll escape

It's all in the way that you're out of your mind
If I could taste the rain the pain is hard to find
All in the way that you're out of your mind
I don't need to believe that you're mine

Safe, you're safe, fuck, you're safe, safe
I'll always keep you safe

Lie to me, could you lie, lie to me?
Lie to me, could you lie, lie to me?
(All in all I need to know are you gone and I'll be on my way again, have I Lost a you?)

A little bit of belief can go a long way

I believe that we go on
A little bit of belief can go so far
A little bit of belief can go a long way
I believe that we go on
A little bit of belief can go so far

You're out of your mind

A little bit of belief
A little bit of belief can go so far to me
