Senses preyed upon by a stranger.
The call is answered and you fall into the ocean
Perception is fading fast
Invincibility overcomes the past

But now the time is near
Turn to one side, something insincere
What seemed like a harmless little game
Isn't so harmless anymore

The question now becomes
Will you bring about your own demise?
This potent poison is dripping
Into your veins

Intoxicated with nonsense

This problem is taking over now
A cheap illusion will not change the world for you
Reality will lift its weight up off
Only if you put in the effort
