Why do I still want to answer every time you call?
I've got to try to cut out this cancer before it gets to strong

I'm better off
better off without you
I'm better off
better off without you
I never thought you'd lie to me the way you do
I'm better off
better off without you

Killing it will end the torture but never stop the pain
What kind of idiot
Makes a fortune just to piss it all away

I'm better off
better off without you
I'm better off
better off without you
I never thought you'd lie to me the way you do
I'm better off
better off without you

It's hard to forgive when you can't forget and now somehow I despise the day that we met I never thought that you'd lie to me the way you do
I used to think that it would end up being me and you I never thought I'd ever leave you for someone new

I'm better off
better off without you
better off without you
