

Arthur Alexander

"Coyote"

Visit "Coyote" on MotoLyrics.com

Coyote
by Bill Staines

Here in the dawn
You got me listenin' to your song once again.
I love how it climbs and it hangs upon the wind.

Here in the dawn
You got me dreamin' to your song once again.
We all get to dreamin' now and then
So that's all right, coyote, my old friend.

Cho: How come you call so lonesome?
How come you sound so blue?
Is there somethin' inside
That you just can't hide?
Has somethin' come over you?
That's all right, we all get lonesome too.

Here in the dawn
You got me listenin' to your song once again;
I love how it climbs and it hangs upon the wind.

Here in the dawn
You got me cryin' to your song once again
We all get to losin' now and then
So that's all right, coyote, my old friend

Cho

Visit Arthur Alexander page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.