The choice of path I made on what I should go on
Makes nothing come between us
I know you will guide my way, and I give you my praise

I am now yours, oh God!

This I will never regret and I will never forget you.
With my oldself dying and rebirth is rising.

I am yours and I feel blessed.

With me now going down this path I will spread your love
And have nothing stop that.
For now on my hands are held out to you to help pick me up from whatever brings me down

You will save me whenever I am a fallen man.
