The sky will open up
And there will be no vengeance
Days are not to be missed
As clouded silhouettes burn Smoldering this evidence, its evident

CHORUS

Capture the Light as it burns right through you
Endured in this love for yourself
As you've fallen again
Why do we, why do we ask forgiveness
Thoughtless yet we had to bend

There's only you and him, and no one else
In the passageway of the wings
Morning (mourning) comes in shifts
Some people are born with tragedy
Is their blood, is their blood

CHORUS

Im running Im coming to take you away
I screaming Im running, throw you away
