The sky will open up
And there will be no vengeance
(There will only be you, your memories)
Days are not to be missed
As clouded silhouettes burn
Smoldering this evidence, it's evident

I'm running I'm coming to take you away
I dreaming I'm coming, throw you away

Capture the Light as it burns right through you Endured in this love for yourself
As you've fallen again
Why do we, why do we ask (for) forgiveness
Faultless yet we had to bend

There's only you and him, and no one else
In the passageway of the wings
Morning (mourning) comes in shifts
Some people are born with tragedy
Is(in) their blood, is(in) their blood

Faultless (x4)

Skies pass through worm holes, with passengers in portals

Beauty burns, and beauty fades away yeah
There's only you and no one else
Fade away and, there's only you and no one else Fade away yeah, there's only you and no one else to blame
