The day has gone
now i?m coming home i remember how it started the night we were alone the sky free all the stars you make it real at last the silhouettes of dark release your suffered heart wisdom of a wild long past in a word of lust smile against your hate and i?m desperate war inside against your mind while the angels fight now i see the sky and your star is shining high

sun comes down
there?s no sound
i will pray every

i walked across the fields to the golden gate giving all my darkness faith to the coming dark memories from nightmares comes while the clock life runs you decided to go away while i choose to stay and who knows who did the best
the fact is all was done
then you never came back
and i will never come

dream a place where to go
a brand new day your mind is closed

and the stars
they have gone

in the sky
you're alone

try to stay near my way shadows soon will come tears are falling down today and your smile has gone i was lost looking for what should never be you won't die in my heart cos you are a part of me

you are falling in the dark midnight nowhere where to start
