Reading all the writings in my skin from your heart walking in a dirty desert place without love

looking for another new sky
not blue one
living in the stranger little land
in your eyes

another place another time smiling over the thin line and you're restless for your lies wasting all my life

hearing voices from another time
in my mind
laughing in a lonely empty room wasting time

another day , another night another way
another time , another way
