December 12

That's the day you crucified yourself, onto me
When your heart falls out in your world of doubt
I'm left to figure out what the hell this is all about
Give me one reason, to pray for your sanity
Let me wear you skin so I could be fake too
Let me fake a smile so I'd be like you
Snow keeps falling just like deception
Pain keeps crawling down my throat
Do you remember
Or care about those footprints left behind
Scarred on my mind
You build a chrysalis with the hate inside
And when your out of time
Out comes nothing but your lies
Give me a reason to pray for your sanity
Let me wear you skin so I could be fake too
The devil is so lovely when he looks like you
Snow keeps falling just like deception
Pain is crawling down my throat
I'm trying to hold on with nails through my hands
But the pain goes down like a jagged pill
Through it all I love you still
