Pick up your phone darling, there's something I have to say
And I can't speak into your ear with your sorrow in the way
I want you to come over, so we can share a glass of wine
And you can tell me everything that's bothering your mind
I'll gladly give your soul some peace if you ask me to Baby what you give to me, I'll gladly return back to you

Don't be afraid to speak the truth of how you feel
Maybe we can turn this crush into something surreal
We can take it slow, there's no need to rush
But I'm not quite sure I understand all your fuss

[Chorus:]

If you need it to be that way, just open up
You know everything will be okay, it's fine to love
With or without your heart broken before me
There's so many new horizons you'll never see
If you're crossing the street into a crowd of danger
Don't be afraid to run into the arms of a stranger

Turn off the TV set and listen to what I have to say
Whatever you give to me, darling, in two-fold I'll repay
There's so much more than friendship that I have to offer you
And when you need a hand or loving lips, I'm gonna pull you through
But the wreckage in your heart is making you miss her
You'll let a good thing pass you by if you don't give me a turn

Never say never on what you really need to speak
Everybody in this world is dying for honesty
I need to know you're jumping in with me into this chance
And like two birds we're playing slow with this courtship dance

If you need it to be that way, just open up

You know everything will be okay, it's fine to love
With or without your heart broken before me
There's so many new horizons you'll never see
If you're crossing the street into a crowd of danger
Don't be afraid to run into the arms of a stranger

Let the music let me in
I'll creep right under your skin
Heal you boy with just a simple touch
Now tell me where are we going to take this crush?

If you need it to be that way, just open up
You know everything will be okay, it's fine to love
With or without your heart broken before me
There's so many new horizons you'll never see
If you're crossing the street into a crowd of danger
Don't be afraid to run into the arms of a stranger
Don't be scared to run to me
