Butterflies come and go as I hear your sweet words
Could you be the one to take away all this hurt?
Your blue eyes sparkle from behind your black hair
I know there's a lover somewhere inside of there
If I take your hand and get the chance to kiss you Imagining a future of what life will lead us to
Will you promise me to never leave me in tears?
Looking at you I have no sense of my lost fears

[Chorus:]

Never have I ever felt so strongly as now
Searched for a lifetime to figure out how
How will I find someone who really has a heart?
Never have I really felt something is real
Life's taught me a lesson or two how to deal
Imagine what we possibly, maybe could start
Take my hand and let's rearrange the stars
To make this love last forever, never have I ever

Time stands still and I watch the clock turn
I think about what we'll share and what we'll learn
About ourselves and the places we will go
I want to wake up to the way your face glows
When you smile and talk about how you feel for me
And I'll make sure you're always safe and always happy
Wherever the storms make us toss and turn I'll be there
Making sure you're alive even if you're unaware

Never have I ever felt so strongly as now
Searched for a lifetime to figure out how
How will I find someone who really has a heart?
Never have I really felt something is real
Life's taught me a lesson or two how to deal
Imagine what we possibly, maybe could start
Take my hand and let's rearrange the stars
To make this love last forever, never have I ever

Maybe love does exist if you don't close your eyes
Never let something beautiful have the chance to pass by
I don't want to lose you, for I am already too deep Baby I'll kiss your forehead and hold you til you fall asleep

Never have I ever felt so strongly as now
Searched for a lifetime to figure out how
How will I find someone who really has a heart?
Never have I really felt something is real
Life's taught me a lesson or two how to deal
Imagine what we possibly, maybe could start
Take my hand and let's rearrange the stars
To make this love last forever, never have I ever
