Lay down in bed wondering
Why I can't get myself to sleep at night
Unable to talk about
The things I've been through Sometimes I wish it would
Rain down on me and wash this tears away
Although it's hurting me

I feel the tears cloud my eyes
As he looks up at me
With the questions in his eyes

I only tell him nothing is wrong
But his love for me I see in his eyes
How do I tell him I'm scared of loved
When his world revolves around me
Sometimes I wish I had all the answers
The answers to the questions in his eyes

The night passes me by
Tryin to erase the things that make me sad
But I only think about
The things that went wrong
Can't talk about the past
Cus I'm trying to star over again
I just gotta find my own way

Then I feel the tears cloud my eyes
As he looks up at me
With the questions in his eyes

I only tell him nothing is wrong
But his love for me I see in his eyes
How do I tell him I'm scared of loved
When his world revolves around me
Sometimes I wish I had all the answers
The answers to the questions in his eyes

My heart's been broken somany times
I'm scared I'll die if it breaks again
In my heart I know
There's so much to give

And it hurts me cus I know he loves me

I only tell him nothing is wrong
But his love for me I see in his eyes
How do I tell him I'm scared of loved
When his world revolves around me
Sometimes I wish I had all the answers
The answers to the questions in his eyes

I only tell him nothing is wrong
But his love for me I see in his eyes
How do I tell him I'm scared of loved
When his world revolves around me
Sometimes I wish I had all the answers
The answers to the questions in his eyes
