Where's The Sun:

Lay your head down, in Cardboard City,
Cause you've nowhere left to go.
Everything at home is far too pretty,
But I guess you just got bored.
Sitting by your window, watch the world float by.

Chorus:

Love is bought and love is sold.
Like running water's hard to hold.
Is the sun beneath the sea.
Maybe that's the place where I should be.
Missing out on all your beauty sleep.
Running up hills that are far too steep.
Holding on to everything, but it burns your skin.
Walking out doors, that just won't let you back in.
Sitting by your window, watch the world float by.
Got some happy in your head, but It don't stop to cry.

Chorus

You can't stop the world turning, so you can climb off,
Just because your so afraid of finding yourself lost
