Black is the night
I lose my mind,
I'm making you into one of a kind,
She appears to be ever so sweet, but she is the ground breaking under your feet Dark as the words, pale as my skin, I'm forcing you to go deeper within,
She appears to be ever so bold, but she is the warning in the stories you told.

It's another big riot that runs through my head makes me so tired I could never forget em one who breathes fire the one who lives more
Don't get yourself burned, it's my war

Runs through my head

Take your worries out on me
Don't wait until the morning
Innocent as they may be
Don't wait until the morning comes
I will set your spirit free
Don't wait until the morning
I'm the pain you're causing me
Don't wait until the morning
Don't wait until the morning
Don't wait until the morning comes
Don't wait until the morning
Don't wait until the morning comes

It's another big riot that runs through my head

It's another big riot that runs through my head makes me so tired, I could never forget
one who breathes fire the one who lives more
Don't get yourself burned it's my war

Don't get yourself burned in my war

I could never forget
Never never forget
No no
My war
