There's a reason for everything
Why people meet, why we believe
And I've spent so many nights all alone
Just praying for someone to call my own
Now that I've met you I can't let you go
I can't look back and I can't say no
It's nights like these that I miss you most
Our lives so distant but you feel so close

Your every dream that I had in mind
Everything I've been trying to find
You're everything I ever dreamed of and more
You're all that I've been waiting for

There's a fate for everyone
Where will we be when it's all done
And I know as time passes by
I must believe and I've gotta try
But we're still young and we've got time
And I'm so lucky that you're all mine
So as I look up at the stars tonight
I can say that I'm alright

Every dream I had in mind
Everything I've been trying to find
Everything I've ever dreamed of and more
You're all that I've been waiting for
