You passed me by and I tried to talk to you Nothing I can say could tell you all the things I've wanted to
I only hope that you could look into these eyes and see I lost my way and I need you to carry me

Nobody's told you to listen before and I can't change
your ways
But I am standing just outside your door, don't let our key just slip away

The rain it falls and it trickles down your face But your eyes shine through it all, they tell me not to leave this place
All I can do is just leave it up to you
You can make or break me girl there's no more I can do

Nobody's told you to listen before and I can't change
your ways
But I am standing just outside your door, don't let our
key just slip away

Yet still I wonder if this could all be real There's nothing that compares to the way you make me feel

Nobody's told you to listen before and I can't change
your ways
But I am standing just outside your door, don't let our
key just slip away
