There's a feeling inside me I just can't bear
I've waited for so long it's just not fair
This pain eats away from the inside out
My eyes are bleeding
My heart stopped beating
Why can't you see all that you've done
You ignore all my pain and misery, misery
Even after I yield myself
You continue to stab this heart
Until I fall apart, fall apart

You will never know
How much of me I gave to you
How much of me I gave away
How much of me I gave to you

Now I stand here with nothing at all
No one to love
No one to call
For everything I once loved is gone
She took it all, she took it all
Someday you'll realize just what you've done
But for now you refuse to see
You're never at fault
You're never to blame
You're not the one to admit you're wrong
There's so much I want to change
I wish you knew this song's for you

I would have waited forever
There's nothing more I could have given
I would have waited forever
There's nothing more I could have given you
