You say it wrong
You say it strange
You speak a language I can't translate

You say it now while the story's young
And all the melody before the song is sung

You and I both know you're no ordinary angel
Riding on the highway
You're no ordinary angel

Drifted off into a golden sky
Oblivious to any danger

I heard your voice over two hundred yards away
And I ran right back into the feelings
Yeah

You and I both know you're no ordinary angel
Riding on the highway
You're no ordinary angel

You and I both know you're no ordinary angel
Riding on the highway
You're no ordinary angel

I see you smiling at the end now
At the end now

I see you smiling at the end now
At the end now

You and I both know you're no ordinary angel
Riding on the highway
You're no ordinary angel

You and I both know you're no ordinary angel
Riding on the highway
You're no ordinary angel
