I can see the shining stars in my head.
Mellow, softly whispering to the dead.
But as I open my eyes again
I can see the reality within my bed
My faith is not secure
But what the hell am I waiting for?
Why do I always wait for more?

Take me back and show me what I've done wrong
The trials I failed end up with the same sad song
And when I make my amends again...
The laws that bide me to my doom will rule again.

My faith is not secure
But what the hell am I waiting for?

I want to change my past mistakes
Having them around is a thing that I've come to hate.
I carry a heavy thought in my head.
I wanna lighten the load but my piles on like lead.
My friends have gone to waste so now I'm here and I don't know what to make of my life.
To just lay around so long and when it's time to figure out what it's all about
And now I see why it always seems to bring me back.
To bring me back!
I feel like I'm always under attack!

I can see the shining stars in my head.
Mellow, softly whispering to the dead.
But as I open my eyes again
I can see the reality within my bed
My faith is not secure
But what the hell am I waiting for in my life?
To just lay around so long and when it's time to figure out what it's all about
And now I see why it always seems to bring me back.
To bring me back!
I feel like I'm always under attack!
