

Atreyu

"A song for the optimist"

Visit "A song for the optimist" on MotoLyrics.com blow the last candle out... let the wax harden i wish i could stop crying... i wish someone still loved me just breathe and focus... how sad i when the air is so cold and empty that my lungs froze right in my chest ill be honest the silver linings are getting harder and harder to manufacture and the smiles are so difficult to fake what do i have to do, or who do i have to kill, to get what i want what i need happiness is an emotion i was born to this world without, nothing pleases me... i cannot not be satiated thru this toil i will breed my own distress and destroy my best hopes, fuck up the only things i love...

I WATCHED MY DREAMS DIE... i watched my aspirations crash to the ground on the backs of the angels that ive slain... but i meant well, i tried too hard, gave every ounce of my soul, to what end... desolation, desire, exhale, pass away...

Visit Atreyu page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.