My city sleeps by the side of a freeway, the city scraps
And winter time she wore a yellow coat Now there's nothin' on her back If a building falls you wouldn't care to notice unless you were in it Then no one cares about climbin' stairs, nothin' at the top no more

Outside trippin' in the broken city Outside trippin' in the broken city, I watch a bleedin' crack
Outside trippin' in the broken city
Outside kickin' in the broken city, there's nothin' wrong with that

Now the snow falls down like it's fallin' on an ocean Dead and empty by the railroad tracks where they used to go and come Now they don't come back
You can hear the rust, goin' up the throughways Down the alleys where they stole this town from the frontier
I can see 'em tryin' to steal it back Outside trippin' in the broken city (Outside trippin' in the broken city)

Outside trippin' in the broken city, I watch a bleedin'
and crack Outside kickin' in the broken city (Outside trippin' in the broken city)
Outside trippin' in the broken city, there's nothin' wrong
with that

Now the sun won't shine on this part of the map Anymore
When it's cold outside I see it hide behind the smokestacks
And nothing grows there, no goldrush, no miner, no revolution behind her And the shipyard is a graveyard, no one will be trying to find her

Outside trippin' in the broken city (Outside trippin' in the broken city)

Outside kickin' in the broken city, I watch a millionaire crack

Outside trippin' in the broken city (Outside trippin' in the broken city)

Outside kickin' in the broken city, there's nothin' wrong with that (There's nothin' wrong with that)

(Outside trippin' in the broken city)
