(Audrey-Annick Furlotte/Marc Provençal) adaptation anglaise Dwight Druick

Here I go again, remembering when Everything I'd do was a part of we two
And as the time goes by, I'm wondering why
It ever had to end this way

Here comes another day, I'm finding my way
With all the memories that won't let me be
And as the day goes by, keep wondering why
When in my heart, I knew I'd say

How could I ever know I'd be letting you go
After giving my heart, after loving you so
How could I ever say, gonna just walk away Now it's said and done, realise the time has come for letting go

Here I go again, remembering when
All the things I knew were just me and you
Another day goes by, still wondering why
I ever had to walk away, I ever had to end this way

Going my own way, sure I am, yes I will Know I will, maybe tomorrow, my heavy heart will be free.
