So you moved to the city
Cause everyone said you were pretty
Got to show them who you are
Isn't that what we all want from afar
You say your passion's gone away again
Cause hollywood ain't nothing but a story full of lies
She said... take some time to breathe
Cause I can't see...

What I used to believe
The things you saw in me
I don't recognize myself anymore
Anymore

I can see you're starting to wear down
Banging your head on the wall and falling to the ground
She said... take some time to breathe
Cause I can't see...

What I used to believe
The things you saw in me
I don't recognize myself anymore
Anymore

Take some time and stay with me
I'm gonna give you my apology
Time to live life like we never did before
Thought I lost my dreams again
I'd stare at the stars way back when
It always left me wanting more and more
I finally realize this time
That I need to read between the lines
And try to get my feet back on the floor
