You ask me where does my joy lie
I tell you in all that I do for Christ
You want to know how I am fulfilled
I tell you in doing my Father's will
You think it strange when I tell you That it's what I live for and die if I have to There's nothing more satisfying than knowing I'm pleasing
The one who matters most

So if I make you smile
And the words that I sing make you feel better
Then I know that it's all worth while
'Cause nothing completes me more than doing what matters most

Your will is planned 'til the end of time
How I fit in only you define
The meaning for my existence
I can't deny you - no room for resistance, no
The only one who makes sense of it all Still trying to understand why my name you've called
But I'm created to praise you
It's what I'm made for and it's what I'll do

So if I make you smile
And the words that I sing make you feel better
Then I know that it's all worth while
'Cause nothing completes me more than doing what matters most
