I saw something in your eyes
That drew me into you in this light
There's desire in this pounding club
But alcohol and dancing don't mean love

Now I know you're not the one
But it's been lots of fun
A moment fleeting
And I know one day you'll find
Someone down the line
But it can't be me

The next day it's back to life
There's something shallow about club life
But next week I'll be back again
To find a new fake connection

Now I know you're not the one
But it's been lots of fun
A moment fleeting
And I know one day you'll find
Someone down the line
But it can't be me

Now please just turn away
You have to go away
You can't rescue me
One day you'll pass me by
We'll look each other in the eyes
But I won't feel a thing

You don't feel love the way that I do
I don't feel love the way that you do
We don't feel love the way that they do

Don't misread my mind
Think you're a great find
But we're moving on to find the next one
I know you like my face and the way I move
Could you heal my tears?
I don't think you could
Love me the next day

When the magic fades
And the hangover enhances mistakes
